CLINICAL SUPERVISION SESSIONS

OASAS regulations require programs to have supervision policies and procedures. Supervision is the cornerstone for assuring that clinical best practices are implemented and monitored within a program. Regularly scheduled supervision is strongly encouraged and should be institutionalized as part of the culture of the agency.

Line D14: Number of Individual Clinical Supervision Sessions
Individual Clinical Supervision is a one-on-one session between the clinical supervisor and a clinical staff person. It is NOT a session where the focus is reviewing charts for completeness and compliance. It is focused on the development of counseling skills and methods. Clinical Supervision can include case reviews with this focus. It is at least 30 minutes in duration. The clinical supervision sessions should be scheduled on a regular basis and should not be supplanted by other program activities. Individual Clinical Supervision Sessions include direct observation of counseling sessions by clinical staff and coaching.

Line D15: Number of Group Clinical Supervision Sessions
Group Clinical Supervision consists of one or more clinical supervisors with two or more clinical staff. It is NOT a session where charts are reviewed for completeness and compliance. These clinical supervision sessions should be scheduled on a regular basis and should not be supplanted by other program activities.

EMPLOYMENT/EDUCATIONAL STATUS

Employment/Educational Status - Active Clients

For programs with OASAS-funded vocational counselors or an employment service contractor, enter the number of clients engaged in activities as described below for the following categories based upon the end of the month census (from Line D4).

• Number of clients in Work Related Activities (WRA) for the report month;
• Number of clients in Work Readiness Status (WRS) for the report month;
• Number of clients employed 30-59 days during the report month;
• Number of clients employed 60-89 days during the report month;
• Number of clients employed 90-119 days during the report month;
• Number of clients employed 120 days or more during the report month; and
• Number of clients unavailable for vocational services.

Work-Related Activities (WRA), Total - Those activities in which a client participates that provide a "work" or "work-like" experience, but do not meet the criteria for "employment" as described below. Work-related activities are intended as a transitional phase leading to work-readiness and unsubsidized employment. This total includes all individuals that have initiated a work-related activity plus those who have previously been reported in earlier months. If a client’s work-related activity has ceased the client will continue to be reported in this total until they are discharged. Clients who are in a work-related activity at admission can be counted in the "Total" category after one month in the program.

The following represents activities that can be counted in the WRA category:

Education (minimum of 30 consecutive calendar days in order to be reported): Formalized curricula/instruction comprising remedial, elementary, secondary or post-secondary academic levels, aimed at increasing academic achievement levels. The services must be provided by a program licensed, certified, or approved for educational services by the applicable governmental agency (e.g., State Education Department, Bureau of Proprietary Business Schools, NYC Board of Education). The chemical dependence program site is an acceptable location for the delivery of these services so long as the services meet specific educational license or approval.

Vocational Skills Training (minimum 30 consecutive calendar days for reporting, with certain exceptions): Formalized instruction for the purposes of acquiring skills for a specific trade or occupation. These services must be provided in a program funded and/or accredited for skills training by a government agency. Training that is less than 30 days in length can be reported if a certificate of completion has been obtained.

Volunteer Work (no 30-day requirement; minimum five hours per week in order to be reported): The purpose of this activity is to prepare for eventual gainful employment.

Situational Assessment (no 30-day requirement): Paid or unpaid activity (e.g., ACCES-VR) intended to evaluate an individual's work skills and performance in a supervised and structured work setting.

Workfare/Work Experience Program (WEP) (no 30-day requirement): A specific work assignment required of public assistance recipients by a local social services district in exchange for their public assistance, food stamps, and/or Medicaid benefits.
Subsidized Employment [30 consecutive calendar days to be reported]: A formalized program consisting of subsidized employment in a "real" work setting, designed to prepare the individual for unsubsidized employment.

Unsubsidized Employment [30 consecutive calendar days to be reported]: Less than 20 hours per week, but otherwise meets the criteria for employment below.

Written verification of all work-related activities must be maintained either in the case record or in a centralized location. Verification can be accomplished by receipt of attendance records (from school, training, etc.), instructor letter(s), or other methods, if approved in writing by OASAS.

Work-Readiness Status (WRS), Total- Clients are considered "work-ready" when they are ready to begin unsubsidized employment. This total includes all individuals that are “work-ready” and those who have been previously reported with work readiness status. If a client’s work readiness has ceased, a client will continue to be reported in this total until they are discharged. Programs are required to utilize the OASAS Work-Readiness Status Checklist to determine whether a client is work-ready. The 30-day requirement does not apply here; clients can be counted the same month they achieve work-readiness status. The checklist does not apply to clients who are employed at admission or who are unavailable for vocational services.

A completed Work-Readiness Status Checklist (PAS-68) in the client case record serves as a verification of work readiness status. (The Work-Readiness Status Checklist may be found on the OASAS web site in the PAS forms section.)

Employment for 30-59 days - A client who obtains unsubsidized work for which he/ she collects wages, receives a W-2 or 1099 statement from an employer, and is employed between 30 to 59 consecutive calendar days. Employment must be a minimum of 20 hours per week, and earnings must be at least minimum wage. Temporary positions qualify for reporting as long as the above criteria are met. "Off-the-books" employment is not a reportable work activity.

Employment must be verified. Verification can be accomplished by pay stub collection, other employer documentation, or other methods, if approved in writing by OASAS.

Employment for 60-89 Days - Any individual achieving between 60 and 89 days of consecutive employment during the reporting month. However, employment can be reported if a break in employment is no longer than 14 days (10 work days). Clients who are employed at admission can be counted here after 30 days in the program. Employment must be verified. Verification can be accomplished by following the same documentation procedure described above for "Employed for 30-59 days."

Employment for 90-119 days - Any individual achieving between 90 and 119 days of consecutive employment during the reporting month. However, employment can be reported if a break in employment is no longer than 14 days (10 work days). Clients who are employed at admission can be counted here after 45 days in the program. Employment must be verified. Verification can be accomplished by following the same documentation procedure described above for "Employed for 30-59 days."

Employment for 120 Days or More - Clients who are employed for 120 days or more of consecutive employment during the report month. However, employment can be reported if a break in employment is no longer than 14 days (10 work days). Verification of employment (as described above) is not required for this category. A client is reported in this category after having been reported in the previous category in the prior month.
Unavailable for Employment Services - Those clients who are not appropriate for vocational services during the current reporting month. They must fit one of the following categories:

- Goal is not employment or other work oriented activities: Examples may include: retired, severely disabled, or caregivers within their own household. A case note in the client record serves as documentation.
- Confined to an Outside Institution (for at least two weeks during the month): Examples may include hospital, detox, incarcerated. A case note in the client record serves as documentation.
- Brief Admission: Clients who discontinue treatment during the month they are admitted.
- Undocumented Client: Clients who are ineligible for federal public benefits, including Medicaid and public assistance; any individual not legally able to work in the United States. A case note in the client record serves as documentation.
- Recent Admission: Clients recently admitted who may not yet have been evaluated regarding their availability for employment/vocational services during the month they are admitted.
- Employed at Admission: Such persons cannot be credited as "Employed for 30-59 days." However, the individuals will qualify for the employment retention categories, as described in the employment retention categories above.

All other clients are expected to be available for employment/educational services.
